OUTLINES.

The Republican National Committee continues to add delegates to the Taft list. The result of yesterday's proceedings on contests from Florida and Georgia was to add 16 votes to his temporary roll. All contests from these two States passed on were decided in favor of the Taft delegates. At one time there came near being a fist-fight between opposing factions. from Florida——A fearful tornado swept over portions of Kansas and Nebraska yesterday, destroying life and property——One more of the men wounded by the accident on the Tennessee dies from his wounds. All the dead are buried at Los Angeles——The excitement over the shooting of Mayor Dreyfus on last Thursday on the Panthean is subsiding. Frenchmen seem hardly to know what was the cause which actuated the deed——Mrs. Anna Gould states that various matters have delayed her marriage to her first husband's cousin, Prince Helie, but that the ceremony will occur within a month——New York Markets: Flour dull and barely stead. Wheat steady, No. 2red 100 elevator. Corn easy No. 2, 78 elevator. Oats firm mixed 54 1-2 to 56 1-2. Rosin quiet, strained $3 to 3.05. Turpentine firm 44. Money on call dull. Time loans easy. Spot cotton quiet, midling uplands 11.40, middling gulf 11.65.

Why don't the proprietors of the hotels on Wrightsville Beach get together and charter a sea serpent for the season? It would be a drawing card.

The Durham Herald says: "Mr. Cigarette, it will be your time next." Then, we suppose it will be chewing tobacco and then cigars, and then what next heaven only knows.

Nearer the time for the Democratic State convention the hotter grows the campaign. It is going to get so hot that some candidates will "go up in smoke" on the 24th instant.

Has ex-Governor Aycock's friends agreed to withdraw his name as candidate for the nomination for Vice President in favor of Governor Glenn, or will this State present two candidates for that honor?

That preacher in New Bern is doing good work in breaking up blind tigers. If all good citizens would take as much interest in the work these beastly beasts would soon become extinct.

Suppose Mr. Bryan does stand a better chance of election than on either former occasion. He missed it so far both times that it does by no means make it appear that he can be elected this year.

During the campaign Hoke Smith said he had no opponent, and still he lost the nomination by about 12,000 votes. Just suppose he had had serious opposition, where would he have stood at the close of the polls?

So the anti-Taft Republicans of this Congressional District are going to contest for the seats in the Chicago convention. The action on Friday of the National Committee will probably make them change their minds.

A report comes from Washington that some politicians in that city are speaking of Governor Glenn for candidate for Vice President. Were he to be nominated with Mr. Bryan he could pledge with more assurance to carry his own State for the ticket than could his leader as to his.

We agree with that one of our exchanges, and it was not a Prohibition paper either, which says that the law should be enforced if it had not been carried by but one majority. The majority should have nothing to do with it. It's the law; let the officers enforce it, and let all good citizens give them earnest support.

The Charlotte Chronicle has not yet had to forward that plug of tobacco to any one who would furnish it with the proof of any farmer plowing up growing cotton for the purpose of planting some food crop. We think Brother Harris will have to "chaw" that plug.

Of all absurd political movements, the most absurd is that of opposition to Mr. Bryan because he opposes the principle of Prohibition—if he really does—What has a man's views on that subject whether for or against, have to do with his fitness for candidate for the office of president? We are opposed to his nomination, but would not oppose it a bit the more were he the strongest prohibitionist in the whole country. That should cut no figure in selecting a nominee for either party.

DOINGS AT CASWELL

High Winds Rather Interferred With Best Target Work by Artillery Yesterday.

SUNDAY WILL BE QUIET

Religio... ...ices in Gymnasium During M... Guard Mount in the Aftern... The Programme For ...uesday.

Library of Congress

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fort Caswell, N. C., June 6.—The sea coast defense maneuvers are progressing nicely at the post here and the infantry of the State National Guard are receiving instructions which would never have been possible under the old plan of maintaining the citizen soldiery of North Carolina.

Today the men had practice with the big guns and the companies detailed as supports under Col. Metts have been progressing nicely with their maneuvers. The feature of this exercises today was company and battalion drill in advance and vanguard. The Wilmington boys had their first actual experience in manning two of the units of Battery Swift and have succeeded in lowering their records to 15 seconds. The sub-calibre practice was not so good on account of the strong wind that prevailed. They were, however, very effective when it is considered that the range is 2,700 yards and the targets are only 12x23 in size. Today the guard mount was very successful and the boys received many compliments upon the way in which they carried themselves. The targets are what are known as floating targets and the men do well to make any kind of an approach to them.

Today the exercises will be very simple and with all due regard for the Sabbath. Rev. A. McCullen, chaplain of the regiment, will conduct divine services in the gymnasium at 11 o'clock and the music will be furnished by the Third Regiment Band, which is unusually fine and is winning the plaudits of both the infantry and the regulars among the artillery. Guard mount will take place in the evening, but outside of this the exercises will be confined merely to the routine of camp life. Monday the maneuvers for the supports will consist of company and battalion drill, outposts. Tuesday the maneuvers proper will take place and the make-believe German fleet will be successfully repulsed by the boys of the National Guard know anything about the proposed bombardment.

Annual Meeting of State Association at Wrightsville Beach This Week The Pogramme Announced and Information.

The programme for the annual meeting of The Cotton Manufacturers' Association of North Carolina at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, on Thursday and Friday of this week, is just announced and from the speakers on the programme and the subjects assigned to them, it is safe to say that the convention will be one of the most interesting of the Association yet held.

There are no set speeches or papers at these meetings, but the gentlemen named below have consented to give some practical business talks on the subjects assigned to them and these impromptu remarks will be found quite profitable and interesting to all who attend.

Mr. A. E. Moore—"Labor, Its Control, Management, etc. "

Mr. D. L. Gore—"Advantages of a Deep Waterway to Wilmington."

Mr. J. R. Tolar—"Relationship of Mill to Commission House."

Mr. A. A. Thompson—"Cotton, Cotton Exchanges, etc."

Mr. M. F. H. Gouverneur—"Economy of Steam and Electric Power."

Mr. John H. Winder, president of the Clinchfield Corporation, has also been invited to attend the convention and make an address on coal, etc. Mr. Winders is president of teh corporation which is building through the mountains what is better known as the South and Western Railroad, which will have a connection with the Seaboard Air Line at Bostic and which it is expected will ultimately make Wilmington or Southport its deep water terminal. Should he come, he will he heard with the greatest interest locally.

The Treasury Department has very kindly placed the United States Revenue Cutter Seminole at the disposal of the visitors and their hosts on Friday and aboard this splendid ship the party will have a delightful trip down the Cape Fear to Fort Caswell, where an opportunity will be given of inspecting the mammoth fortifications guarding the approach to the Cape Fear.

The officers of the association are among the most prominent business men in North Carolina. Mr. R. M. Miller, Jr., of Charlotte, is president; Mr. W. A. Erwin, of West Durham, first vice president; Mr. Caesar Cone, of Greensboro, second vice president; Mr. E. H. Williamson, of Fayetteville, third vice president, and Mr. W. L. Myrick, of Charlotte, secretary and treasurer.

MARION SEASIDE HOME.

Children Now Being Received—Rebuilding Being Completed.

The Marion Seaside Home, on Wrightsville Beach, is now open and receiving sick children, although the formal opening will not take place until later. The opening this week was on account of the serious illness of three little ones, who required immediate attention. The addition of the second story to the building is now being rushed to completion and the additional nine rooms will soon be available. Eight of these rooms are connected with bath and will be used for those patients whose parents desire to pay something for the treatment provided. The improvements to the Home all told this season amount to nearly $2,500. Broad verandas now encircle the building and every comfort and convenience is provided for children and their mothers, who accompany them to the home. Both charity and pay patients are received at the Home and no difference is made in the accomodations furnished. Mrs. Helen G. Lane has been engaged at matron and Miss Saunders ah head nurse. Miss Saunders comes from New York City, where she recently graduated from one of the best known children's hospitals in the metropolis.

CITY LEAGUE BASEBALL.

Rattlers Win From Monarchs and Y. M. C. A. From Giants.

Although the crowd was small on account of the counter-attraction at the new grounds, the games in the City Base Ball League at Hilton Park yesterday afternoon were very interesting. The Rattlers won from the Monarchs in a score of five to one in the first game and the Y. M. C. A. took its fourth straight victory from the Giants in a score of two to one. Mintz and Zellers formed the battery for the Rattlers and Green and Green and Moore for the Monarchs. Parker and Oriole, the new catcher, were at the firing ends for the Y. M. C. A. and Gore and McClellan did the stunt for the Giants. The Y. M. C. A. stands at the head of the percentage column with four straights; the Rattlers are second with two won and two lost; the Monarchs third with one to the good and two lost and the Giants at the bottom with three lost and none won. The teams are all in good condition and the outlook for the season is very favorable.

WON IN THE TENTH

Garrisonian Finish Gets Game From The Collegians For Leaguers of Wilmington.

THE GAME YESTERDAY

Score Tied in Ninth With Two Men Down—Pitching Honors For Wysong and Jobson—To Newbern on Monday.

With a garrisonian flourish the Wilmington League team yesterday afternoon at the new baseball park tied the score with the A. & M. College in the ninth and won in the tenth inning after one of the most exciting games witnessed on the local diamond this season, score two to one. Eight hundred people saw the game and were carried away with enthusiasm at the close finish.

With two men down in the ninth and the score one to nothing against them, Smith went to the bat for Bussey of the professionals, received a pass, stole second and was brought home on a clean single by Kite. This tied the score and the A. & M. was quickly up and out in the tenth. Then Blanke got a scratch hit to centre, stole second and when Finnerty let go a drive out somewhere, nobody seemed to care where, Blanke came in like a deer all the way round from second, cinching the game for the League team. It was urged by the A. & M. players that Blanke "cut" third base in making his phenomenal dash home, but the largest number of spectators know that the Farmers had received their only run in the third inning the same way, the umpire looking the other way at the time, and it was taken as a matter of course.

Jobson, late of the Virginia League, was in the box for the A. & M. and had the professionals almost at his mercy during most of the game. He pitched a really fine game and won the hearts of the grand stand and bleachers. Johnston went in for Wilmington for the first five innings, but was replaced by "Lefty" Wysong, who had the farmers at his mercy for the last half of the game. He yielded but a single hit during the four innings that he pitched. Jobson pulled himself out of several holes in great shape and the game was his until the ninth inning, when he went up in the air with speedy Smith on bases. The steal of Blanke home from second base was the most spectacular part of the performance during the afternoon.

The game clearly demonstrated that Wilmington is not strong at the bat, but her players are adept at working a pitcher. They have their eye on the ball all the time and it has to be just over the plate before they indulge in any pyrotechnics with the willow. Unless they fatten their batting average considerably when the regular league season opens, the heavy hitters of the clubs will have things pretty much their own way. The tabulated score is as follows:

Raleigh Team Shut Out.

Raleigh, N. C., June 6.—Seven hundred people this afternoon saw the Raleigh team, Eastern Carolina League, play Trinity College and meet defeat six to nothing.

Gantt, of Trinity, pitched too fast for Raleigh leaguers, who made not a single hit, however, the field work of the Raleigh men was very good. A sensational line drive catch by Farmer, for the Leaguers set the spectators wild. Defeciency in batting is their principal drawback. Trinity got ten hits, no errors, Raleigh no hits and two errors.

EDUCATIONAL MEETING

Committeemen and Members of Board of Education Held Important Conference in Court House Yesterday Morning.

For the purpose of discussing educational affairs in the county in general, a very interesting meeting of the committeemen from the various districts in New Hanover was held yesterday morning in the Court House with members of the County Board of Education, County Superintendent Catlett and other prominent local educators.

The meeting continued from 10 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock in the afternoon and every district was represented except Nos. 7 and 15, the committeemen from these having been unavoidably detained at home. Chairman George Rountree and Mr. Wm. H. Sprunt, of the Board of Education, each made brief addresses of encouragement and instruction to the committeemen, urging them to make themselves active in support of the cause of education.

Each of the speakers told of the financial status of the schools in the county and stated that only a small special tax would be required to maintain every institution up to and above the present high standard. It had been only a few years ago, they said, since the higher rate now required was paid without objection and the people should not fail now to vote the small amount necessary to keep the schools upon their present firm foundation. It was stated upon the advices from Raleigh that New Hanover is now one of only eight counties which do not have special tax districts. The committeemen were urged to take an active interest in this matter and to see to it that the schools are not allowed to suffer for revenue.

County Superintendent Catlett, who is perhaps closer to the committeemen as a whole than any other man in the county, was the last speaker and gave the committeemen words of encouragement and assurances of the most hearty co-operation. His address was followed by brief expressions from the committeemen themselves, giving an account of the work of their respective districts. A general discussion of affairs devolved upon these reports and the meeting was made unusually interesting and profitable to those in attendance.

DEATH OF MR. SANDLIN.

Well Known Citizen Died Early Yesterday—Funeral Today.

Mr. J. B. J. Sandlin, for many years a citizen of Wilmington, passed away at his home, No. 511 North Fifth street yesterday morning at 3:10 o'clock, after a lingering illness covering a period of some time. For several days Mr. Sandlin had been in a critical condition and his relatives and friends had entertained little hope for his recovery.

The deceased was born February 3, 1867, and at the time of his death was 41 years of age. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sandlin, of Verona, Onslow county, and had spent his entire life in this city. There are surviving his wife, the only member of his immediate family, and a large number of relatives, who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

The last sad rites will be held from the home this morning at 9:45 o'clock, Rev. W. A. Snyder, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, and Rev. A. D. Mcclure, D. D., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, officiating. At the conclusion of the service the remains will be carried to Oakdale and interred.

The pall-bearers at the funeral will be as follows: Honorary, Messrs. J. M. Padrick and W. A. Mahler; active, Messrs. L. Friemuth, E. J. Hardison, S. W. Ketchum, Z. M. Walton, W. A. Spencer and Will Evans.

"THE HANDCUFF KING."

Big Offering at Crystal Palace All This Week—Albertus.

The Crystal Palace, which is now under the exclusive management of Mr. Marx S. Nathan, has a notable offering this week in Albertus, known the world over as "The Handcuff King." Albertus defies, locks, chains, fetters and all other means of fastenings. His acts have baffled the police and detective corps of nearly every city of importance in the United States and his exhibitions here are likely to draw immense crowds when the marvel of his act becomes noised around. The Palace is most pleasantly cooled by numerous electric fans and people will find it a delightful place to visit for a few minutes rest and recreation during the day. Manager Nathan is going to do his best to make the Summer season at the Crystal the peer of that during the Winter. Popular prices prevail and the performances are continuous.

KITCHIN MAY LEAD

Was Strong in Primaries Held in Ten Counties of The State Yesterday.

RETURNS NOT COMPLETE

Stokes County Gave Its Six Votes in a Block—Bryan Endorsed in Forsyth—The Result in Wake County.

Ten counties in the State held primaries yesterday and although nothing like complete returns were available last night, it is given out that Mr. Kitchin has in all probability overcome the lead which Mr. Locke Craig has enjoyed since the opening of the campaign, though this is not certain. Mr. Ashley Horne, the Johnston county candidate, fared well at the hands of his friends during the day and has increased his firm hold upon the "balance of power" in the State convention.

From the four counties which were able to make anything like complete returns last night, it would appear that Mr. Kitchin received above thirty votes, Mr. Horne approximately 15 and Mr. Craig between 12 and 15. The returns so far as the Star was able to receive last night are as follows:

Raleigh, N. C., June 6.—The Democratic primaries in Wake county today divided the vote in the State convention on a strength of 24 delegates on a basis of about 12 to Kitchin, 8 Horne and 4 to Craig. Popular vote in Raleigh township: Kitchin 695, Horne 605, and Craig 252, total 1,552, as compared with 1,697 votes cast in the Democratic primaries two years ago. Raleigh and Wake primary vote this time is regarded very light.

Stokes is solid for Kitchin, six delegates. A remarkable return in Wake county was from Panther Branch township where 28 votes were given Cyrus B. Watson, of Winston-Salem, for Governor, Horne 9, Craig 5 and Kitchin 7. The Watson vote was a manifest resentment of the anti-prohibitionists and will not be reported by the party chairman because there was no official registration of Mr. Watson in the primary as a Gubernatorial candidate.

Wilson, N. C., June 6.—Accurate returns are not all in from two townships, but the vote in Wilson county convention Wednesday will be approximately 5.75 for Kitchin; 3.61 for Horne, and 1.65 for Craig.

Newbern, N. C., June 6.—Indications from Jones county primaries show Craig slightly in the lead. Craven primaries outside of Newbern today resulted as follows: Craig 21.67; Kitchin 21.16, and Horne 1.96. City primaries will be held Monday night.

Lumberton, N. C., June 6.—Returns from all townships in Robeson county show Kitchin 6.19, Craig 5.83, Horne 3.98. GEO. B. McLEOD.
Chairman Democratic Com.

Lumberton, N. C., June 6.—Semi-official returns, Horne 4 1-2, Craig 6, Kitchin 5 1-2. A. E. WHITE, Pres. and Mgr. Horne Club.

Lumberton, N. C., June 7.—Township primaries were held in this county this afternoon for the purpose of selecting delegates to the county convention which meets here next Wednesday at which time delegates will be appointed to the State convention. A test of strength of the different candidates for Governor shows the vote to be 7 for Craig, 5 for Kitchin and 4 for Horne. There may be slight changes in these figures but if any, will be very small.

Winston-Salem, N. C., June 6.—The Democratic County Convention of Stokes county was held today and the delegates to the State Convention were instructed to cast the seven votes of the county for Kitchin for Governor. A resolution was adopted endorsing Bryan. Forsyth County Convention was held this afternoon. Delegates to the State Convention were instructed to cast the gubernatorial votes as follows: Kitchin 12.22, Craig 2.31, Horne 1.47. Resolutions endorsing Bryan for president and Buxton for Congress and the administration of Governor Glenn were adopted.

Whiteville, N. C., June 6.—The vote of Columbus as between the three candidates for Governor at the Charlotte convention has been accompanied by an element of uncertainty ever since the county convention on Thursday, when the delegates to the State convention were appointed before the poll of the strength of the county convention was made. The complication is also added to from the fact that there is an unsettled contest from one township which gave its solid vote to Craig. The papers will all be made up and referred to the County Democratic Chairman, Mr. J. A. Brown. As far as conservative leaders have been able to figure the vote it will stand about as follows in the State convention: Kitchin 6 2-3, Craig 2 2-3 and Horne 1 2-3. The poll of the county convention resulted in a vote as follows: Kitchin 38 1-8, Craig 12 3-8 and Horne 8 1-2.

A FOOLISH PROCEEDING.

The people of Roswell, Ga., the birthplace of the mother of President Roosevelt, are trying to start a boom for him. To do so they have taken a course which they think will strike a popular chord throughout the country. What makes the proceeding all the more foolish is that the movement is headed by Democrats; in fact, there seems to be no one taking part in it except members of that party. They have an idea that because of the local associations the movement will take strength among the people and influence the President. We hope and believe they will be disappointed in both respects.

The plan, originated by the Mayor of Roswell, is to present Mr. Roosevelt with a mommoth petition, requesting him to accept the nomination. The petition has been started in that town, which contains 201 voters, all white men, and presumably most of them Democrats. Of these, out of 176 approached, 174 signed the petition and two declined. The absence of the other voters prevented their signatures being solicited. Petitions have been put out in other parts of Georgia and so far 30,000 signatures have been secured, it is said, all names of white men, and it is believed 100,000 names can be obtained.

What does this mean? that the Democrats believe that between Taft and Bryan the latter would win, but that between Bryan and Roosevelt the latter would be successful and they prefer Roosevelt to Bryan for president, or that they think Bryan could defeat Roosevelt more easily than he could the present Secretary of War? From the manner and the location in which the movement was started one would rather suppose that it was the former reason which actuated the signers of the petition. Democrats of Georgia would hardly become enthusiastic over petitioning Mr. Roosevelt to become the candidate just for the purpose of having him defeated.

This is a peculiar political condition and the whole country will watch the movement and its outcome with great interest, though we have no idea it will amount to anything.

We believe that had Mr. Roosevelt felt sure some time ago that he could, if a candidate for the second time, break the Solid Democratic South and secure the electoral votes of some of the most important States of this section he would have consented to be a candidate, but it is too late now for such a movement. He has gone too far in advocacy of Mr. Taft to honorably accept the nomination in any circumstances.

AMERICA IMPORTING OATS.

With the millions of bushels of oats that are produced in this country annually it is hard to believe that the importation of this grain from a far-away country can be profitably made. Still such is the fact. Argentina, one of the most progressive and prosperous of the South American Republics, is the source of this breaking in on the American home market for this cereal of which our farmers produce such an immense crop each year. That Republic is a great grain growing country and for some time has been competing with the United States in furnishing small grain to the Nations of Europe; at times, because of its immense crops, causing uneasiness to our producers and exporters, but until the present time it was not dreamed that her farmers would or could become their competitors in our own markets. Such has proven to be the case, however, and it has been demonstrated that Argentina can ship this product of her farms over the thousands of miles of sea, pay the customs duty at the port of entry and transport by rail hundreds of miles to the interior and then sell below the local market price. As wonderful as this is it is the truth. This is shown by the following account of a recent occurrence which we take from the Philadelphia Record:

"For the first time, we believe, in the history of the country a cargo of oats from Argentina was landed last week in New York. The invoice price of these oats was 38 cents a bushel, upon which was levied a duty of 15 cents a bushel. The freight was 2 cents a bushel from New York to the West, where it was converted into 'breakfast food.' This brought its price to 55 cents a bushel at the point of delivery, where it was sold for one cent less than the native product of less weight and quality."

WHOSE THE FAULT?

"Governor Glenn and Quartermaster General Macon, of the North Carolina State Guard, will confer tomorrow with General Oliver, the Assistant Secretary of War, regarding accommodations for the State troops when they go into encampment at Beaufort. The State officials will ask for the construction of permanent mess halls and warehouse."

The above is from the News and Observer's Washington staff correspondent. How is it that the State is looking to the Federal Government to make these necessary improvements to the State Guard encampment grounds at Morehead? We were under the impression that when the Governor and others in charge of the matter accepted the offer of the Morehead site it was on condition that the people of that town and the Norfolk & Southern Railroad should furnish these accommodations and other necessary conveniences, such as lights and plentiful supply of good water Have the contracting parties carried out their contracts? If not why have they not been compelled to do so by those who had the authority to force them to do it? Have the State authorities abandoned all effort to have the agreement carried out and are now attempting to have the Federal Government do what others contracted with them to do in consideration of securing the encampment? Have the contracting parties above mentioned ever supplied the camp grounds with sufficient lights or plentiful supply of good water, or built the houses specified in the contract made several years ago? If not, why not? and whose fault it is that they have been allowed to default in this matter of so much importance to the comfort and health of the soldiers who are annually ordered into camp there?

A GOOD SPEECH IN A GOOD CAUSE.

The Evening Chronicle speaks in most complimentary terms of the speech made in that city on Thursday by Mr. Iredell Meares before the Retail Merchants' Association. That part of the address in reference to the proposed deep waterway from Wilmington to the sea and especially what he said as to the advantage such improvement in the channel would be to Charlotte and to the other cities of the central port of the State was most pleasing to the Chronicle, from whose editorial comment on the address and its subject matter we make the following extract:

"He presented an array of facts and figures that should hold the attention of the people of the State. Just what the deepening of the Cape Fear means to Charlotte, which is 87 miles nearer to Wilmington than either Norfolk or Savannah, is a 'saving of freights of $750,000; to High Point, it means $262,500; to Greensboro, $326,230; to Winston-Salem, 461,000; to Raleigh, $280,000; to Durham, $1,275,000; to Greensboro, $450,000. All these are based on the shipments of these cities.' Mr. Meares made an eminently sensible observation in conclusion, that 'the South needs to cultivate a broader-minded set of statesmen who will study public questions of real import, instead of harping on issues out of date.' That's the sort of a speech that wants to go the rounds."

The Chronicle, true to its purpose of doing all it can to aid in our State's progress, never lets pass an opportunity to advocate the deepening of the waterway from our city to the sea and to point out the advantages it will be to the entire State.

A Washington dispatch to the New Bern Sun states that it has been settled between Governor Glenn, who is in that city, and the Navy Department, to have the presentation of the silver service to the cruiser North Carolina take place off the harbor of Beaufort about July 23rd. So it will be done in North Carolina waters after all.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Hon. Charles E. Littlefield, the Maine congressman who recently astonished the country by resigning his seat to take up the practice of law, is the lucky man who has been selected by the United States Supreme Court as master to take evidence in the adjustment of the debt of Virginia and West Virginia. The matter involves some $33,000,000, and for his services Mr. Littlefield will receive a salary of something like $25,000 a year. It will probably be several years before the controversy is finally settled. A great many men would try to make a job like that last a long time; and who could blame them? But Mr. Ltitlefield is not of that sort.—Savannah News.

—The Washington Herald undertakes to set right those that believe that the next presidential election is going to be a "walkover" for the Republican nominee and proceeds to recount what it regards as the "issues" upon which the Democratic candidate can go before the country—with prospect of success at the polls. What are these "issues?" Among those that are mentioned by The Herald are, the election of United States Senators by the direct vote of the people, the more effective regulation of the trusts, further legislation "in the matter of the railroads," "the issue of imperialism," legislation aimed to reduce friction between capital and labor, provision for an emergency currency, and a general criticism of the Republican administration. Is that the best that the Democrats will be able to do? With the exception of the last item in this bill, there is not one really live "issue" that might be used effectively in a political campaign.—Columbia State.

—By retirement, the South in the past few days, has lost two of the most prominent figures in its educational life—Dr. Winston, of the North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical College, and Dr. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia. Dr. Alderman has recently declined the presidency of the University of New York at a salary of $15,000, feeling himself physically unable to perform the duties of that position. He is suffering from a general breakdown in consequence of his strenuous duties and his physicians have ordered him to drop out for a while, go to Europe and take a long rest. It is to be hoped that his retirement from educational work in the South is not permanent, as in the case of Dr. Winston, and that he will once more be found applying his active energies in behalf of that section for which he has done so much good. He is a man the educational interests of the South can ill afford to lose.—Charlotte Chronicle.

—There is no occasion to question the sincerity of Mr. Bryan and Secretary Taft in their expressions of devotion to the proposition that publicity be given to campaign contributions. In fact, they could do nothing less than take such position if they wished to retain unqualified popular respect. It is a part, an important part, of the discreditable record of Congress that the proposition was rejected. The agreement on the part of the two "leading candidates" for presidential nomination was, practically, a confession that widespread corruption has characterized national campaigns for the highest offices in the gift of the people. However, the majority in Congress promptly and emphatically put itself on record as opposed to anything in the nature of steps to expose such corruption and minimize its proportions in the future. In that action may be seen a tacit understanding that the party in power will continue to avail itself of the advantage of affiliation with the "interests" with a view to securing unlimited campaign contributions.—Chattanooga Times.

The opera "Powhatan," which was to have been given at the Casino, on Wrightsville Beach, on Thursday night, had to be postponed on account of Prof. Baker's inability to secure the former members of the caste, a number of young gentlemen of the city being at the encampment, at Ft. Caswell. The play, however, will be given later in the season, and its splendid success in the past is sufficient assurance of a large audience upon its presentation.

The Saturday night and mid-week dances at Lumina are rapidly becoming as popular this season as they have ever been in the past and large crowds attend, both to enjoy the dancing and to witness the pleasure that is being enjoyed by those engaged in the dancing. The orchestra at Lumina has far exceeded even the most optimistic hopes of the progressive Tidewater Company, and the rendition of the "Merry Widow Waltzes," and the favorite two-step, "Afraid to Come Home in the Dark," has been the source of comment by the music lovers. The two concerts given on Sunday are always well attended by Wilmingtonians and residents of the Beach, and, as usual, a large crowd will doubtless be present to enjoy the concerts which have been arranged for today.

The many friends of Miss Sue Brent Prince will be interested to learn that she sailed from New York harbor on Sunday last on one of the handsome liners of the Cunard Steamship Company. Miss Prince was one of a party of young ladies from Gunston, which is under the chaperonage of a member o fthe faculty of that college. Mr. and Mrs. Prince were present to see their daughter off, and Mr. Prince returned to Wilmington on Monday, Mrs. Prince remaining in New York for several days, to visit friends. Miss Prince has a large number of friends in Wilmington with whom she is very popular, and by whom she will be greatly missed during the coming Summer.

The annual encampment held at Ft. Caswell during the past week, has proven quite a drawing card to the Wilmington public. Numbers of people watch with interest the maneuvers of the troops at the Fort, and the records made by the boys of the Wilmington Light Infantry has been a source of gratification and pride. The Light Infantry, in command of Captain Robertson, went into camp with a high percentage of its membership, and the personnel of the company has been kept to the high standard established for it in past years. The guard mount which will take place at the Fort this afternoon will doubtless prove a strong attraction to persons interested in the company, and numbers of the young ladies and gentlemen expect to attend this afternoon. Captain Jno. W. Harper, the genial master of the Wilmington, will run his usual schedule to Southport, and persons desiring to witness the operations of the company may take advantage of this fact to attend this afternoon.

A large number of young people from the city as well as the people on the Beach and the guests from the hotels partook of Mr. Hinton's hospitality on Friday evening, when the opening dance was given at the Seashore Hotel, which inaugurated the festivities at this popular hostelry and which was granted by all to have been a perfect success. The large and spacious ball room was tastefully decorated for the occasion by Mr. Will Rehder, the well known florist, many flags having been used in the decorations, which added greatly to the beauty of the scene. The music was furnished by Nixon's orchestra, which has been engaged by Mr. Hinton for the entire season and which will give afternoon and evening concerts daily throughout the Summer. The dance started promptly at 8:30 o'clock and continued until midnight. All those who were present spent a most delightful evening and are looking forward with much pleasure to the other dances which will be given by the manager of the Seashore Hotel during the Summer months.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" is on the boards for a repetition, on June 12th, at the Academy and tickets will shortly go on sale for the repetition of this highly successful play. The cast of characters will be the same as that in the first presentation, Miss Evans taking the role of "Mrs. Wiggs," Miss Lord as "Miss Olcott," Mr. Denny as "Mr. Bob," and Messrs. Willie Watters and Montgomery Ridgely as "Billy" and "Jimmy," respectively. Miss Sadie Booker will take the role of "Astralia", Miss Mary Owen Green, "Europena," and Miss Francis Hedrick, as Asia. The first presentation o fthe play was highly successful, both from a financial stand point and as an entertainment, and was witnessed by a large audience. The performance on this occasion will be for the benefit of the Baseball Association, and while the merits of the various actors are a sufficient assurance of a large patronage, the public spirit of Wilmingtonians will doubtless manifest itself in a hearty response to the call upon it for support of the team.

The following announcement cards were received by friends in this city on Friday last and will be of much interest to readers of The Star. Mr Lavinder lived in this city for a year or more and during his short stay here made a host of friends who now extend to him heartiest congratulations. The announcements read as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warfield Price announce the marriage of their daughter
Norma Alice
to
Mr. Thomas Clarlisle Lavinder
on Wednesday, June the third nineteen hundred and eight
Salem, Virginia

The reports from the maneuvers at Fort Caswell during the past week have been most satisfactory and have been read with much interest by Wilmingtonians. On Friday the Wilmington Light Infantry enjoyed a visit from a prominent party of visitors among whom were Rev. R. W. Hogue, chaplain; Mrs. R. W. Hogue, Mrs. W. F. Robertson, Mrs. W. L. Williams, Mrs. R. C. Cantwell, Mrs. Martin S. Willard, Miss Annie Hill Holmes, Miss Theo. Cantwell, Mrs. W. G. Pulliam and Mr. W. J. Craig.

The church was artistically and beautifully decorated with ferns, similax, cut flowers and potted plants. The ushers were Messrs. D. C. Sinclair, T. A. Lyon, L. N. Whitted and E. C. Brights Disease---Case of Mr. F. H. Turner

DR. H. F. LONG, Statesville, N. C., says: "I wish to attest the statement made by Mr. F. H. Turner in regard to his condition and the benefit he derived from the use of LINCOLN LITHIA WATER. The symptoms exhibited were those of Bright's Disease. He came under my care after having been refused Life Insurance on account of those symptoms. His condition was serious and alarming when he began taking LINCOLN LITHIA WATER. Improvement was rapid and continuous,, and the patient has now quite regained health and strength.

MR. TURNER'S STATEMENT: "For three years I had suffered almost constantly with a derangement of the kidneys which threatened to develop into Chronic Bright's Disease. After trying almost every available remedy known to the medical profession, without any relief, I became almot hopeless. I had to giveup my work entirely and could only retain the simplest food on my stomach. My physicians advised me to drink Lithia Water freely. I decided to try LINCOLN LITHIA WATER. I had very little faith at this stage of my disease in any remedy, and less in water only. However, I began to use it daily, and at this time was redueed in flesh to 135 pounds. After using the water for three weeks, found my weight had increased 21 pounds, and my digestion was so much improved I could eat almost any kind of food without injury. Three months from the time I began drinking the water I weighed 190 pounds, and felt well in every respect. That LINCOLN LITHIA WATER has been the means of saving my life and filling it with strength, vigor and happiness again is beyond supposition, and its merits in cases of this kind speak volumes to those who have tried it."

LINCOLN LITHIA WATER is an invaluable and efficient agent for the cure and prevention of Rheumatism, Gout and all complaints arising from Uric Acid Diathesis, Bright's Disease, Gravel Stone and all Affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, particularly those requiring an alkaline treatment, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nervous Debility and Exhaustion, and remarkably curative in Affections peculiar to Women.

MASTERY OF THE NILE.

The Method by Which the Flow of Water Is Controlled.

Every morning from a little room of a great white house on the eastern shore of the Nile at Assouan is clicked by telegraph to Cairo the question, "How much water?" The answer comes so many thousand gallons more or so many thousand gallons less. A button is pressed, the water which flows under the iron bridge at Cairo is increased or diminished some ten days later in accordance with the telegraphic answer, and the intervening valley between Assouan and Cairo has a little more or a little less water on its surface. The man at the button may bring joy or sorrow to thousands of little farms—it is all according to the message he receives.

From the great white house there extends across the river a granite wall or dam 150 feet high. Halfway up this wall and stretching its entire length a line of shutters opens or closes by a pressure of the button. In the winter months a huge lake expands to the southward, which has every appearance of being a flood, for in certain places the tops of palm trees are discernible above its surface, and the summits of inundated ruins apparently mark the sites of sunken cities. As the days go by and Cairo demands more and more water the palm trees and the ruins seem to rise from their watery beds until in June and early July the river flows freely with all its historic indolence.—New York Times.

Three Layers of Atmosphere.

It appears that in the atmosphere there are three distinct currents of air, the first lying at an elevation of from 900 to 1,500 meters, the second at from 2,500 to 4,000 meters and the upper one at from 6,000 to 8,000 meters above the surface of the earth. These are to an extent separate currents, flowing each with its own velocity. At the bottom of each of the layers the stratus clouds are formed, and at the top of each of the layers occur the cumulus clouds. This suggests that the stratus originate at the bottom of a moving current and the cumulus at the top. It is probable, then, that the stratus owe their origin to the difference in velocity and temperature of the two layers, while the cumulus are formed by ascending currents within the layer of air.

Bad, but Still Good.

A judge from one of the African crown colonies, now home on leave, is telling this story: It is the custom in the local courts to administer to the natives the form of oath which they consider most binding. One day a Christian colored gentleman, of whose good faith the judge entertained some doubts, was about to give evidence. At his own request he was allowed to take the oath of a Christian. Then the judge intimated that he must also be sworn in the native fashion. The man was visibly disconcerted. "Oh, nō, massa," he pleaded. "Not dat. Me very bad native, but me very good Christian."—Manchester Guardian.

Reversed the Process.

"Yes, sir, the major went in swimmin', an' I'm blest ef a feller didn't come along an' steal all his clothes!"

"An' what did he do then?"

"Broke the record by goin' home in a barrel, instead o' the barrel goin' home in him."—Atlanta Constitution.

Shocks to the Ear.

A succession of noises means a succession of shocks, says Country Life. The ear, unlike the eye, has no lid under which it may go to sleep, and indeed it has been proved that the sense of hearing is at work just after sleep comes on.

An Obliging Cyclone.

People who want something bright and original may be referred to the story of a Texas cyclone that picked up a letter and delivered it to the person to whom it was addressed, twenty miles away.—Toledo Blade.

and David C. Sinclair, cousin of the bride. Immediately before the entrance of teh bridal party Mr. T. A. Lyon sang "Believe." The bridal party entered the church to the sweet strains of Lohengrin, beautifully rendered by Miss Janie Clark, the sister of the groom. Miss Mary Robinson was maid of honor, and Mr. J. H. Clark attended as best man. While the melody of love was softly played the ceremony was performed by Rev. Ralph C. Deal, of Kinston, who recently married the bride's sister. The bride was beautifully gowned in a handsome light blue traveling suit, while the bridesmaid wore a dainty white batiste, prettily trimmed with ribbon. The groom is a well known and highly esteemed young attorney of this place, while the bride is one of the most beautiful and accomplished young ladies of the Cape Fear section. A host of the friends of the happy pair were present to witness the pretty ceremony and to offer best wishes for their future happiness Shortly after the ceremony the party left for White Lake, where they will spend a few days before going to Kinston, their future home, where Mr. Clark will pursue his profession. The people of Bladen reluctantly give up this popular pair, but wish them all happiness in their new home

Miss Kate Horner, of Oxford, N. C., is the guest of relatives on Masonboro Sound, where she will remain for some time.

Miss Callum, who has been the popular guest of Miss Nellie Durham, returned to her home in Greensboro on Wednesday last, much to the regret of her many friends here.

B., has been appointed by the Governor one of the assistants at the United States biological laboratory at Beaufort, where he will spend the Summer."

Friends of Mr. and Mr . David Anderson have received handsomely engraved invitations announcing the celebration of their Golden Wedding on Tuesday, June 16th, 1908, at hall corner Sixth and Eye streets, N. M. and will be largely attended by friends and relatives of the venerable couple, many of whom reside in the Cape Fear section of North Carolina.

It was a matter of regret to many Wilmingtonians, as well as the proprietor of the Seashore Hotel, that the very inclement weather on Friday evening prevented the large crowd who intended to attend the opening dance at that popular hostelry, but the news that Mr. Hinton has decided to repeat the dance on Tuesday night, will be received with much pleasure by the large number who were disappointed last week.

A most delightful house party was that given last week on Wrightsville Beach, at the Myers cottage, and chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Myers, who did everything for the pleasure of the young people who composed the party. The happy "marooners" went down for the "week-end," and those who have ever participated in the boys of a "marooning party" will realize how many happy incidents arise to make up the pleasures of such an occasion. Those who composed the party were: Misses Kate Myers, Reba Myers, Athalia LeGrand, Olive Quince, Florrie Grant, Alice Callum, from Greensboro, and Miss Nellie Durham; and Messrs. John Myers, Clarence Myers, Reynolds, Adams, Daniels, Louis Poisson, Fred Poisson.

—The new law placing the receivership of suspended and failed banks in New York State in the hands of the State Banking Department begins its operation in a blaze of glory. It cost the Home Bank of Brooklyn only about $1,200 to go through a receivership—$666 for the receiver, a deputy of Superintendent Williams, and the rest for clerical expenses. If the Home Bank had timed the receivership a fortnight or so earlier it would have had a Jackson receiver instead of a Williams receiver, and its suspension would have cost it $20,000 or $30,000. In every other respect the new system is better than the old. The trained deputies in the State Banking Department are much fitter managers of a failed bank than the politicians and personal dependents of an Attorney General who have usually been appointed receivers. Under them the administration of receiverships will be as efficient and as inexpensive as that of national banks under the federal system. The depositor's chances of receiving a fair proportion of what the failed bank owes him will be greatly enhanced, and everybody will be better off except the man who has made receiverships his profession. He undoubtedly agrees with Attorney General Jackson, who denounced the new law as an "outrage."—New York Tribune.

—"Advertising always brings results." "Yes; but not always the ones you want." "What do you mean?" "Well, young Barnes was shaky on his college education, and he advertised for a coach." "Did he get one?" "No; but the next morn ing thirty-six cabs were standing in front of the house."—Cleveland Leader.

NEWS OF LUMBERTON

Negro's Daring Entrance Into Residence Near Depot—Crop Prospects Bright—News and Personal Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., June 6.—Yesterday morning about 3 o'clock, Miss Carrie Fisher, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Fisher, residing near the freight depot, was awakened by the presence of some one in her room. About the time she awoke she was seized by a negro man, but her screams frightened him sufficiently to cause him to leap through the window and escape. He was pursued, however, and captured near the National Cotton Mill, two miles away, and brought back to town where he was given a preliminary hearing. The young lady could not identify him but his tracks correspond exactly with those leaving the house. He told several conflicting stories as to who he was and where he came from. Failing to give the required bond for his appearance at the July term of criminal court he was sent to jail.

The Lumberton Graded School closed Thursday. The non-resident teachers will leave for their homes the first of the coming week.

This section has been visited during the last few days by refreshing rains which were beginning to be needed.

Rev. F. Weiss, pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle, is taking his vacation and is spending the time in New York.

The waste house at the National Cotton Mill was partially destroyed by fire Wednesday night, causing a loss of about $200. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Mrs. Caroline Jones, who has conducted a boarding house here for many years, has announced that on the first of July she will discontinue the business. This is much regretted by many people throughout the county as well as in town as she has the reputation of conducting a first-class house.

While on a drive of 20 miles through the country this week, we were glad to note the very favorable crop conditions. The stand of cotton is unusually good and all crops are in clean and thriving way. The apple crop in this section will be much better than expected. In many places the trees are loaded to their capacity.

The increase in business of the Lumberton postoffice has been sufficient to cause the salary of the postmaster to be increased from $1,800 to $1,900 per year.

United States engineers are now engaged in making soil surveys in this section——Mr. H. M. McAllister, cashier of the First National Bank, has purchased a large touring car, which attracts considerable attention——Week-end tiskets are now on sale here. Rates are given to only two points, Wilmington and Jackson Springs. The rate to either place is $3.00.

He Got What He Needed.

"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says Mr. C. Farthing of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 50c.

—Newbern Journal: Rev. J. W. Ham, of the Baptist Tabernacle Church, who affected the capture of the blind tiger at the Harrell place, at Five Points, Thursday night, made a second raid at the same place yesterday morning and got even more than he did at first, securing about 1,000 bottles of pints and half-pints. The liquor was concealed in a back room and an air of innocence was put on the whole thing by the entrance to the room being covered with boxes. With the aid of Deputy Sheriff White, and supplied with a search warrant, Mr. Ham found the hiding place and observed that although the man was helpless on the bed he had used methods and cleverness to conduct his business as secretly and successfully as he had. Mr. Morning, the clerk for Harrell, was arrested, and his case was heard before Magistrate Hines yesterday afternoon, and he was bound over to Superior court under $300 bonds.

FIRED UPON DRIVER.

Mule of Brickyard Team Shot at Road Crossing Yesterday Morning.

Yesterday morning about ten o'clock as Will Carter, a negro was driving a team into the city from the brickyard of Messrs. Roger Moore's Sons & Co., on the Castle Haynes road, he was fired upon by an unknown person with a shot gun from just behind some houses where the county road passes over the railroad tracks. The load was evidently intended for the driver or the firing was accidental. The driver professes to know no reason why he should have been fired upon and says he could not ascertain from investigation whence the shots came. A full load of bird shot took effect in the hide of one of the mules but the animal is not dangerously wounded. Mr. P. Q. Moore, who has charge of the brickyard for the firm, will make further inquiry into the matter.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SHORT.

Impressive Service From St. James' Yesterday Morning.

The order for the burial of the dead was most impressively observed in the presence of a large number of sorrowing friends and relatives in St. James' Church yesterday morning at 10 o'clock over the remains of the late Mrs. H. B. Short, who died in Baltimore Thursday. Bishop Robert Strange, of the East Carolina Diocese, assisted by Rev. R. W. Hogue, rector of St. James, and Rev. Edward Wootten, officiated at the solemn services and the funeral hymns were rendered with impressive effect by the church choir. A great many beautiful floral tributes were laid on the casket. After the services at the church the remains were tenderly borne to Oakdale cemetery where the committal service was held. The pall-bearers were as follows: Honorary, Messrs. William Calder, John R. Kenly, George W. Kidder, and Dr. T. S. Burbank; active, Messrs. J. W. Murchison, W. J. Craig, Clayton Giles, Thos. H. Wright, Geo. Rountree and Dr. Thomas M. Green.

SALE AT GAYLORD'S.

Big Dry Goods Demonstration Begins on Thursday of This Week.

Attention need hardly be called to the large advertisement of Geo. O. Gaylord which may be found in another part of today's paper. Beginning on Thursday this store will place on sale at Summer removal prices $75,000 worth of good seasonable merchandise to be retailed at sacrifice prices. Advertisement is made for 25 salesladies for this big sale and large crowds are expected; the prices have certainly been quoted to draw them. There will be a special offering in the clothing department, hundreds of suits being placed on the market for quick removal at 60 cents on the dollar. All mail orders during this sale will be attended to promptly and will be filled at prices named. Remember the day, Thursday, June 9th.

Victim of Bad Accident.

While doing some work in the shops of the Atlantic Coast Line Friday afternoon, Mr. Benjamin Oliver Wells by some means got his foot caught in a fly wheel of a band saw and before he could be released, his leg had been broken and he was otherwise painfully hurt. Mr. Wells was removed to his home, where he was given surgical attention by Dr. D. W. Bulluck. He will be unable to resume his work for several weeks.

Still More Vagrants.

The continuous stream of vagrants tried in the Mayor's Court last week are materially adding to the road forces and rendering good service in the building of New Hanover roads. There were two more tried and given thirty days yesterday, these being C. T. Williams and Jessie Sarvis. There were several other cases tried at the session of police court yesterday, but they were of little interest.

Found Confederate Minnie Ball.

Mr. W. M. Skipper, a well known Confederate veteran of the county, who lives at Delgado, one day the past week while walking in the woods three miles from his home towards Baymeade, picked up a well preserved minnie ball, which was no doubt fired during some of the skirmishes around Wilmington during the war. Mr. Skipper values his find very highly.

TRUCK FROM FAISON.

Shipments Will Exceed Those of Last Year—Country Prosperous.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Faison, N. C., June 6.—The people around Faison are "busy as bees" getting off to market the crops of beans, potatoes and "cukes," and in the lot are many, yea, very many crates of the celebrated "Sampson blues" huckleberries. The season this year is advanced over previous years. Last year only about 150 packages of truck had gone forward June 1st, while this season the shipments to same date have exceeded 18,000 packages. About 6,000 baskets of beans have gone forward each day the past week, which added to the total to June 1st will bring the amount to quite an aggregate. The total shipments from here last year were upwards of 90,000 packages and from present indication the sum total this year will far exceed that mark, and with fair prices this section will continue to grow prosperous.

DECORATE FOR FIREMEN.

Committee at Work to Have People Extend Welcome to Visitors.

The committee on decorations appointed to see that the city will be in gala attire during the Firemen's Tournament to be held in the city next week, is hard at work. The canvass has begun and over 40 business firms have signified their intention to decorate. Others will be seen next week and asked to join those who will give a welcome to the laddies in flags and bunting. The work of decorating the stores will begin about Wednesday of this week and it is important that those merchants who desire to be up-to-date in this respect, should place their orders at once. Over a thousand firemen and their friends will be here during Firemen's Week and it is befitting that all firms who have any enterprise should show this by having their stores in gala attire. A list of the firms which will decorate for the week will be given in the papers this week.

PRETTY HOME MARRIAGE.

Mr. Lynn L. Rice and Miss Rosa Lee Jenkins Wed.

There was a quiet marriage Friday evening at the home of Miss Susie A. Price, 515 Queen street, and the contracting parties were Mr. Lynn L. Rice and Miss Rosa Lee Jenkins. The vows were said in the presence of a few relatives and intimate acquaintances, Rev. Thomas P. Noe, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, officiating.

The occasion took place at 8:30 o'clock, and immediately afterwards Mr. and Mrs.. Rice repaired to their future home at 705 South Front street, where they will be pleased to greet their friends.

The bride has a large circle of friends and is much admired for her gentle disposition and fine traits of character. The groom is a popular young business man holding a responsible position in the general offices of the Atlantic Coast Line in this city. It was an event of much interest to their many friends.

NEGRO A SHOP-LIFTER.

Charles Jones Landed in Jail After a Strenuous Journey.

Officer Leon George arrested Chas. Jones, colored, late yesterday afternoon on Front street and in default of bond the negro was sent to jail pending a preliminary investigation on the charge of larceny before Mayor Springer Monday.

Jones, loaded with liquor, proceeded from one store to another on Front street with the intention of carrying away as much as possible without presenting his pay. When he reached the store of S. H. Kress he picked up a hat pin and several other small articles and proceeded to walk, but before he had gone far the matter was reported and Jones was taken in custody.

When he was searched at the police station a number of worthless trinkets were found and these will be used as evidence at the hearing.

Bachelor of Laws.

The many friends of Mr. Henry Y. Heyer, who was recently admitted to practice the profession of law at the Wilmington bar, will be pleased to know that he was one of three at the commencement exercises at the University during the past week to receive the degree of Bachelor of Laws. Mr. Heyer was one of the most prominent members of the law class at the University the past year and although the youngest member of his class, was chosen president and received other honors at the hands of his fellows. Wilmington is glad to welcome him to the ranks of its legal fraternity.

C., where she was visiting her brother. Mrs. Bishop was a sister of the late Stephen L. Meredith, of this city, and is survived by her husband; one son, Mr. George Bishop, Jr., and one daughter, Mrs. James Smith, of Columbia, also by two brothers, Messrs. James Meredith, of Newberry, S. C., and George P. Meredith, of Columbia, S. C

Case For Larceny Dismissed.

Charged with the larceny of $1.50, Elijah Jones was tried yesterday morning before Justice Bornemann and discharged for lack of evidence. The defendant conducts a restaurant on the wharf and the prosecuting witness, Max Mattewson, claims that he went to his place in an intoxicated condition and while there Jones stole his money. Mattewson was taxed with the cost.

HIGHWAYMAN GETS CASH.

Bold Robebry Enacted on South Eighth Street Friday.

At the point of a pistol held by the bold intruder, Messrs. Ben Weathersby and Charles Myers, two young men, were forced to surrender their cash on South Eigth street about 9 o'clock Friday night and the man who committed the robbery was allowed to proceed unmolested. They were attacked in a dark place and neither of the young men being armed, were necessarily forced to give up what they had in the way of money amounting to ten dollars.

The case was reported to the police and presistent efforts have been extended in order that the highwayman might be captured, but up to a late hour last night all efforts were fruitless. Further than the fact that he was a white man, and a middle age person of stout build, nothing is known.

Negro on Three Charges.

James Russ, Jr., colored, was the only defendant in Justice Furlong's court yesterday and he was tried in three cases. Russ lives in the Brooklyn section of the city and he created quite a commotion in that neighborhood last Thursday night and as a result had to pay two heavy fines for his mischievous conduct. He was held on two charges for assault and battery on his wife, and for the third offense of disorderly conduct was permitted to go after paying the cost. He was required to pay fines of $5 each in the first two cases.

SANDLIN—At his home in this city Saturday morning, June 6th, 1908, at 3:10 o'clock, JOSEPH B. J. SANDLIN, aged 41 years.

Funeral this (Sunday) morning at 9:45 o'clock from late residence, No. 511 North Fifth street. Friends and acquaintances respectfully invited to attend.

Died at Delgado.

Many friends will be pained to learn of the death of Mrs. H. C. Creech, of Delgado, which occurred rather suddenly yesterday afternoon at the family home at 3 o'clock. She had been ill only since 1 o'clock Friday afternoon and death resulted from congestion of the brain and paralysis. Mrs. Creech had been a member of the Presbyterian church for thirty years and was universally esteemed by those who knew her. She is survived by her husband, one son and two daughters. They have the sympathy of many friends in their sorrow. Funeral services were conducted yesterday evening at the saddened home by Rev. J. S. Crowley, assisted by Rev. Devanne Dixon, of Delgado, and the remains will be taken on the early train this morning to Hallsboro, Columbus county, for interment.

Death Was On His Heels.

Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for cough and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

EXTRAORDINARY!

Read the Letter Below Just Received From Mr. I. Shrier, by His Manager, Mr. E. L. Davis, Announcing a Clothing Event for People of Wilmington.

"St. Denis Hotel, Broadway and Eleventh Streets, New York, June 5th, 1908.

"Mr. Ed L. Davis, Mgr. I. Shrier, Wilmington, N. C.

"My Dear Mr. Davis:—Last night I telegraphed you as follows:

"'Have arranged with International Tailoring Company to take three thousand suit patterns, entire surplus stock at tremendous reduction, enabling us to sell eighteen to thirty-five dollar two-piece suits at twelve dollars. Goods on the way. Bargain seekers should wait for this great sale. Publish copy of this telegram immediately. Full particulars by mail.'

"The facts are exactly as I have stated them in the telegram and I hope that by this time you have published the big deal through the medium of the newspapers. Mr. Reiss, the President of the International Tailoring Company—unquestionably the largest and best equipped tailoring house in the United States—made me a proposition and I took him up quickly. Just what I wanted.

"The figures quoted me are so low that I could not understand it at first, but Mr. Reiss showed me where the company had recently bought the entire output of two large woolen concerns, embarrassed as a result of the late financial troubles, and at such a bed-rock figure, as to enable him to cut prices to the core in his quotations to me. Another reason is that the International wants to keep all its hands working right through the slack season, and have them on hand when the Fall and Winter season commences.

"Many of the styles are regular $25.00 and $35.00 suitings, and the variety from start to finish is of the choice, nobby, elegant kind. Those of our patrons who get in for the first "pick" will certainly have a pic-nic. This is not going to be one of those "catch penny-hurrah boys" sales, or, fictitious advertisements, which don't amount to anything for the customer. You can see that we are in a position not only to promise something big, but to give it. Just think of it, a two piece suit tailored to perfection from any of these beauties, for only $12.

"Another word about the "International." My previous conclusions in regard to them have been fully confirmed. They are both from a business, and a personal standpoint, the only house with which I would care to deal, and as you know, I have tried the lines of several other leading concerns. I know that when I trade with them, my customers will invariably get full value for their money, and their future patronage is assured to me, because of the high grade of the goods and workmanship.

"Am coming back right away. In the meantime, let the people of Wilmington know what good things we have in store for them immediately.

"Very truly yours,

"I. SHRIER."

WARM WIRELETS.

Slight signs of improvement were further manifested last night in the condition of Oliver H. P. Belmont, the capitalist, who is critically ill of peritonitis, following an operation for appendicitis at his home in Hempstead.

Two men shot, one fatally, three under arrest and two escaped are the results of a desperate battle fought by detectives and a band of alleged bandits who were surrounded in a farm house at Balbridge, about 20 miles east of Pittsburg yesterday.

Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, who was committed to the Tombs prison without bail at the adjournment Friday of his trial, will probably have to remain in prison during his trial. Hs counsel made an effort Saturday to secure the consent of teh District Attorney to have the comedian released on bail without avail.

At Enid, Okla., following six hours' rain fall, Boggy Creek, running through the city, widened Saturday from 20 feet to 2,000 feet, flooding almost the whole of Enid, carrying away 50 houses, flooding stores and endangering lives. Water is 12 feet deep in Main street, covering two blocks of the business center.

The Russian Douma has by a vote of 184 to 78 rejected the item in the naval budget appropriating $5,500,000 to lay the keels of four battleships during the current year. This vote is tantamount to a vote of lack of confidence in the present officials of the Ministry of Marine, and wholesale resignations from this ministry are expected to follow.

West Point was thrown open yesterday to the Confederate Veterans camp of New York City, the United Southern Societies, the Dixie Club and the Daughters of the Confederacy and their friends. The party arrived by boat. There were about 1,000 persons in the party and in honor of their presence the corps of cadets was turned out for dress parade.

The Gruff Historian.

Neither at the Saturday Review dinners nor in the companies in which I have met Freeman at Wells did he often show himself a genial companion. His taste for snubbing amounted to a craze. His tendency to contradiction on every possible opportunity altogether exceeded that even of Bob Lowe, Lord Sherbrooke, himself. Freeman was more agreeable to encounter in the open air than at a dinner table. In the Mendip district whenever I heard a horse's hoofs pelting along some piece of turf by the roadside and a voice singing the refrain of some old cavalier song I knew that if I looked round I should see the historian pounding along on a sturdy nag which, according to tradition, in a burst of generosity he once offered to Carlyle as a gift.—Chambers' Journal.

Samp and How to Cook It.

Samp is one of the most delicious and appetizing of all corn products or by-products.

Give us the bowl of samp and milk
By homespun beauty poured!

So sang Whittier. Whittier didn't know how to eat. He lived on air. The very suggestion of milk with samp is nauseating. It is worse than mush and milk and grits and cream. Roger Williams knew all about samp, and this is how he had it cooked: Crack the corn into about four pieces to the grain. Soak it all night in water. Skim off the skims which float in water. Boil on a slow fire until tender, with a piece of salt pork in the pot. When the water is dried out, introduce some good butter, some salt and pepper and serve hot. The Indians of Massachusetts used any kind of fresh meat for a flavoring and called the dish "saupac." You may have all your oatmeal, hominy, grits, mush, meal, polenta, etc., but let me have the samp—when I can't get "lye hominy."—New York Press.

The Old English Dames' Schools.

The descriptions of some of the dames' and other schools of the early part of the nineteenth century are exceedingly interesting. Many of these ancient teachers were unable to write an intelligent answer to a simple question. One on being asked as to the terms on which she gave instruction replied: "Not understanding the question, I answer thus: With a view of reading the Bible." We have the authority of the late Lord Shaftesbury for the statement that one of these poor creatures, being asked if she gave moral instruction to her scholars, replied, "No, I can't afford it at 3 shillings a week." A more amusing answer, however, was that of the teacher who was asked whether proper attention was paid to the morals of the boys under his care. His answer was that "they did not teach morals there, as they belonged to the girls' department."—Westminster Gazette.

The Goat's Change of Faith.

Near a small Baptist church not far out of the city there lives an old Irishman who keeps a goat. One day, finding the church door open, the goat wandered inside and browsed around among cushions and books, much to the detriment of those articles. The pastor chanced to catch the animal at his mischief and lost no time in going to the owner to complain. "You will have to keep that goat tied up," began the minister. "He went into my church just now and"— But we was allowed to proceed no further. The old Irishman held up both hands in amazement. "Wint into your church, did he? Thin I can't be responsible for him no more, th' ongrateful baste. If that goat has turned Protestant I wash me hands of him."—New York Times.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Rocky Mount Record: The contract for paving the main street of Rocky Mount has been awarded the Atlantic Bitulithic Co., of Richmond. The machinery and material for this work have been shipped and work will begin at once.

—Cambridge, Mass., June 5.—Among the successful candidates for the Bachelor of Divinity degree at the Harvard Divinity School is Sidney Swain Robins, of Asheboro, N. C., who will receive his degree with honors at the Harvard commencement, June 24. Robins already holds an A. B. degree from the University of North Carolina, 1904, and A. M. from Harvard, 1905.

—Corncord Times: Mr. Robert S. Young, Jr., son of Dr. Robert S. Young, of this city, will graduate from the Naval Academy today and will at once be assigned to duty on the battleship North Carolina under Lieutenant Commander Victor Blue. Mr. Young's rank is midshipman and he was given his diploma without having to stand any final examinations, a distinction won on merit.

—Weldon, June 5.—About six o'clock yesterday afternoon Arthur Cain, a negro driver, and a negro barber named Henry Stancill, got into a dispute over 50 cents and Cain hit Stancill on the head with a heavy piece of iron, breaking his skull. Deputy Sheriff Keeler attempted to arrest Cain, but the negro resisted desperately and tried to brain the officer, who was forced to draw his gun and shoot in self-defense. He fired five shots into Cain's body, the latter fighting to the last. Today both are living, but physicians pronounce them fatally wounded.

—Fayetteville Observer: The local Republicans received notice Thursday from Chairman New, of the National Republican Executive Committee, that there would be a contest as to delegates from this, the Sixth District to the National Convention at Chicago. The delegates from this District, chosen by the regular, or "Lilly Whites" organization, are S. M. King, ex-Revenue officer, and J. B. Schulken. The notice of contest is evidently by the negro, or anti-Lilly Whites. It is said that every district delegation in the South will be contested at Chicago.

—Salisbury Post: Senator Overman is taking life quietly at home since his return from Washington. The last days of Congress were strenuous and all the Senators and Representatives on the ground left Washington wearied. Senator Overman was among others who heard Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, throughout his eighteen hour speech which consumed part of the afternoon and the whole of one night. Senator LaFollette, Senator Overman says, delivered the speech with vigor, and was by no means exhausted when he coucluded. Senator Overman will be at home much of the time until the campaign opens.

—Charlotte News: At the last meeting of the executive council, Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World, held at Omaha, Neb., May, 1908, North Carolina was set off as a separate jurisdiction and designated as head camp "W." Mr. W. S. Charles states that the first convention of delegates of this jurisdiction will be held at Charlotte, second Tuesday in March, 1909. There are 260 camps in this State, and each camp will be represented by from one to three delegates, according to the membership. This information will be of interest to the many Woodmen of this country, showing the growth of the order in this State, as it is required that each jurisdiction shall have a membership of not less than 5,000 in good standing, North Carolina having 7,000.

—Kinston Free Press: Tuesday morning a young white man, giving his name as P. D. Broadwell, and representing himself to be a salesman of the National Cash Register Co., hired a horse and buggy from the stables of Simmons & Taylor, on North street, saying he would return that night. Later he sent word that he would not return until Wednesday morning. When he didn't show up Wednesday night Mr. Simmons got anxious and called the long distance phone into service. Calling up every town in the surrounding country, but no tidings of Mr. Broadwell. This morning he received word from chief of police in Greenville, that said Mr. Broadwell had driven to Greenville, and sold horse and buggy to a horse dealer there. Broadwell represented himself to be a book agent when he got to Greenville. He got out of there on the Norfolk & Southern.

—Lexington Dispatch: That blockade stills are running right along in various secluded spots not a great way from Lexington is the opinion of a number of men in authority around town. A man says that one can stand on the Raleigh bridge near the Oneida chair plant and see smoke rising from a moonshiner outfit. Sunday some boys were bathing in a creek near town when they saw a number of young men from Lexington drive into the woods, hitch their horses and get out with jugs; and they returned with full vessels. Two men who live in the same community near town, one of whom was wet and the other dry, both used the same argument to back their views, the argument being that men passed through their farms en route to a blockade still to get whiskey. There is no doubt in the world that blockade whiskey is being made in Davidson. Revenue officers have not made a visit to this county in a long time, and the county officials have done absolutely nothing.

AN IMPLOSION.

It Is the Opposite of an Explosion and Less Familiar.

Every one knows what an explosion is, but its opposite, an implosion, is less familiar. At great depths in the sea the conditions are favorable for its production. At 2,500 fathoms the pressure is, roughly speaking, two and a half tons to the square inch—that is to say, several times greater than the pressure exerted by the steam upon the piston of a powerful engine.

An interesting experiment to illustrate the enormous force of this deep sea pressure was made on the Albatross, a government vessel engaged in deep sea exploration.

A thick glass tube several inches in length full of air was hermetically sealed at both ends. This was wrapped in flannel and placed in one of the wide copper cylinders used to protect deep sea thermometers when they are sent down with the sounding apparatus. The copper cylinder had holes bored in it, so that the water had free access inside, round the glass. The case was then sent down to a depth of 2,000 fathoms and drawn up again.

It was found that the cylinder was bulged and bent inward, just as if it had been crumbled inward by being violently squeezed. The glass tube itself, within its flannel wrapper, was reduced to a fine powder, almost like snow. The glass tube, it would seem, as it slowly descended, held out long against the pressure, but at last suddenly gave way and was crushed by the violence of the action to a fine powder.

This process, exactly the reverse of an explosion, is termed an implosion. —Chicago Record-Herald.

Business Methods.

Great numbers of vast fortunes in this country have been and are being built up on the very ignorance of the masses in regard to business methods. The schemers bank on it that it is easy to swindle people who do not know how to protect their property. They thrive on the ignorance of their fellows. They know that a shrewd advertisement, a cunningly worded circular, a hypnotic appeal, will bring the hard earnings of these unsuspecting people out of hiding places into their own coffers.—Success Magazine.

OLD ROMAN NAMES.

The Peculiar System That Was In Use by the Nobility.

The noble Romans were peculiar in their system of nomenclature. They had the praenomen, the nomen and the cognomen. The first of these distinguished the individual and was equivalent to our Christian or baptismal name. It was usually indicated by a single letter, as A. for Aulus, or by two letters, as Ap. for Appius, or three, as Ser. for Servius. The nomen was distinctive of the gens or clan and has no corresponding appellative among us. The cognomen was placed last and designated the familiae, precisely answering to our surname. Sometimes a fourth name was added, the agnomen, in consequence of a renowned action, some conspicuous event of life or feature of character. Scipio, in addition to his regular names, was styled Africanus after his conquest of Carthage. The name Germanicus was assumed by those who distinguished themselves in the wars with the Germans.

In female names the Romans indulged but small variety of appellation, and fancy had little or nothing to do with their invention and bestowal. When there was but one daughter in a family she received the feminine termination of her gentile name, as Tullia, the daughter of Marcus Tullius Cicero, and Octaviae, the sister of Octavius Caesar, etc., which names were retained even after marriage. When there were two daughters one was called Major and the other Minor, as Cornelia Major and Cornelia Minor. If there were more than two they were distinguished by their number, thus: Prima, Secunda, Tertia, Quarta, etc.

Slovenliness In Speech.

Do not drift into careless habits of speech. Slang, which is slovenliness in speech, is as contemptible as slovenliness in dress. Many people use slang because they are too lazy to think of proper forms for the expression of thought. The clothing of our minds certainly ought to be regarded before that of our bodies.

Quite a Stoic.

"I had expected there would be a great splurge at Miss Fawtyfore's wedding, but it seems to have passed off quietly."

"Oh, yes. The young man submitted to the operation without a murmur."

THE Princess Virginia

By C. N. and A. M. WILLIAMSON,

Authors of "The Lightning Conductor," "Rosemary In Search of a Father," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

"What could there possibly be more, or what you hint at as more, in honor?"

The chancellor's voice was angry at last as well as stern, for he could not bear persistence in other people unless it were to further some cause of his own. To the delight of the woman who had once tried in vain to melt his iron heart, Count von Breitstein began to look somewhat like a baited bull. Really, said the baroness to herself, there was an actual resemblance in feature, and joyously she searched for a few more little ribbon tipped banderillos.

What fun it was to ruffle the temper of the surly old brute who had humiliated her woman's vanity in days long past, but not forgotten! She knew the chancellor's desire for the emperor's marriage as soon as a suitable match could be found and, though she was not in the secret of his plans, would have felt little surprise at learning that some eligible royal girl had already been selected. Now how amusing it would be actually to make the old man tremble for the success of his hopes, even if it should turn out in the end to be impossible or undesirable to upset them!

"What could there be more in honor?" she echoed lightly after an instant given to reflection. "Why, the emperor and the girl will see a great deal of each other unless you banish or imprison the Mowbrays. There'll be many dances together, many calls—in fact, a serial romance instead of a short story. Why shouldn't his majesty know the pleasure of a—platonic friendship with a beautiful and charming young woman?"

"Because Plato's out of fashion, if ever he was in, among human beings with red blood in their veins and because, as I said, the emperor is above all else a man of honor. Besides, I doubt that any woman, no matter how pretty or young, could wield a really powerful influence over his life."

"You doubt that? Then you don't know the emperor and you've forgotten some of the traditions of his house."

"Are you trying to warn me of disaster, baroness?"

She laughed. "Oh, dear, no—of nothing disagreeable! But I should be sorry to think, as you seem to do, that our emperor has no youth in his veins."

"I think nothing of the sort. What I do think is that my teachings have not been in vain and that he has grown up to put his duty to his country and his own self respect above everything. He's a strong man—too strong to be trapped in the meshes of any pink and white Vivien. And if he admired a young woman not of royal blood he would keep his distance for her sake. You say this English miss is with her mother at the principal hotel of Kronburg. If Leopold constantly visited them there we should have a scandal. On the other hand, to suggest meeting the girl outside or incognito would be an insult. Either way he would be but poorly rewarding a woman who saved his life."

Baroness von Lyndal's color rallied to the support of her rouge, and her smile dwindled to inanity, for she had insisted upon the argument, and it was going against her.

In her haste to vex the chancellor she had not stopped to study from every side the question she had raised. So far she had merely succeeded in irritating him, and she owed him much more than a pin prick. Such infinitesimal wounds she had contrived to give the man in abundance during her twenty-two years at the Rhaetian court, but now, if she hurt him at all, she would like the stab to be deep and memorable.

To be sure, in beginning the conversation she had thought of nothing more than a momentary gratification, but the very heat of the argument into which she had thrown herself had warmed her malice and sharpened the weapon of her wit. She could justify her expressed opinion only by events, and it occurred to her that she might be able to shape events in such a way that she could say with eyes if not in words, "I told you so."

Her fading smile brightened. "Dear chancellor, you do well to have faith in your imperial pupil," said she. "You've helped to make him what he is, and you're ready to keep him what he should be. I suppose even that if, being but a young man and having the hot blood of his race, he should stray into a primrose path you would take advantage of old friendship to—er—put up signposts and barriers?"

"Were there the slightest chance of such necessity arising," grumbled the chancellor, shrugging his shoulders.

"It's like your integrity and courage. What a comfort, then, that the necessity is so unlikely to arise!"

The old man looked at her with level gaze, the ruthless look that brushes away a woman's paint and powder and coldly counts the wrinkles underneath. "I must have misunderstood you, then, a moment ago," he said. "I thought your argument was all the other way round, madam."

"I told you I was amusing myself. What can one do at a ball when one has reached the age when it would be foolish to dance? Why, I believe that Lady Mowbray and her daughter are not remaining long in Kronburg."

At last she was able to judge that she had given the chancellor a few uneasy moments, for his eyes brightened visibly with relief. "Ah," he returned, "then they are going out of Rhaetia?"

"Not exactly that," said the baroness slowly, pleasantly and distinctly. "I hear that they've been asked to the country to visit one of his majesty's oldest friends."

Leopold was not supposed to care for dancing, though he danced—as it was his pride to do all things—well. Certainly there was often a perfunctoriness about his manner in a ballroom, a suggestion of the soldier on duty in his unsmiling face and his readiness to lead a partner to her seat when a dance was over.

But tonight a new Leopold moved to the music. A girl's white arm on his—that slender arm which had been quick and firm as a man's in his defense—the perfume of a girl's hair and the gold glints upon it, the shadow of a girl's dark lashes and the light in a pair of gray eyes when they were lifted, the beating of a girl's heart near him, the springtime grace of a girl's sweet youth in its contrast with the voluptuous summer of Rhaetian types of beauty, the warm rose that spread upward from a girl's childlike dimples to the womanly arch of her brows—all these charms and more which rendered one girl a hundred times adorable took hold of him and made him not an emperor, but a man, unarmored.

When the music ceased he fancied for an instant that some accident had befallen the musicians. Then when he realized that the end of the dance had come in its due time he remembered with pleasure a rule of his court established in the days of those who had been before him. After each dance an interval of ten minutes was allowed before the beginning of another. Ten minutes are not much to a man who has things to say which could hardly be said in ten hours. Still, they are something, and to waste even one would be like spilling a drop of precious elixir from a tiny bottle containing but nine other drops.

They had scarcely spoken yet, except for commonplaces which any one might have overheard, since the day on the mountain, and in this first moment of the ten each was wondering whether or no that day should be ignored between them. Leopold did not feel that it should be spoken of, for it was possible that the girl did not recognize the chamois hunter in the emperor, and Virginia did not feel that she could speak of it. But, then, few things turn out as people feel they should.

Next to the throne room was the ballroom, and beyond was another known as the waldsaal, which Leopold had fitted up for the gratification of a fancy. It was named the waldsaal because it represented a wood. Walls and ceiling were masked with thick growing creepers trained over invisible wires, through which peeped stars of electric light, like the checkerings of sunshine between netted branches. Trees grew up, with their roots in boxes hidden beneath the moss covered floor. There were grottoes of ivy draped rock in the corners, and here and there, out from leafy shadows, glittered the glass eyes of birds and animals—eagles, stags, chamois, wolves and bears—which the emperor had shot.

This strange room, so vast as to seem empty when dozens of people wandered beneath its trees and among its rock grottoes, was thrown open to guests whenever a ball was given at the palace, but the conservatories and palm houses were more popular, and when Leopold brought Miss Mowbray to the waldsaal after their dance it was in the hope that they might not be disturbed.

She was lovelier than ever in her white dress under the trees, looking up at him with a wonderful look in her eyes, and the young man's calmness was mastered by the beating of his blood.

"This is a kind of madness," he said to himself. "It will pass. It must pass." And aloud, meaning all the while to say something different and commonplace, the real words in his mind broke through the crust of conventionality. "Why did you do it?"

Virginia's eyes widened. "I don't understand." Then, in an instant, she found that she did understand. She knew, too, that the question had asked itself in spite of him, but that once it had been uttered he would stand to his guns.

"I mean the thing I shall have to thank you for always."

If Virginia had had time to think she might have prepared some pretty answer; but, there being no time, her response came, as his question had, from the heart, "I couldn't help doing it."

"You couldn't help risking your life to"— He dared not finish.

"It was to save"— Nor was there any end for her sentence.

Then perhaps it was not strange that he forgot certain restrictions which a royal man in conversing with a commoner is not supposed to forget. In fact, he forgot that he was royal or that she was not, and his voice grew unsteady, his tone eager, as if he had been some poor subaltern with the girl of his first love.

"There's something I must show you," he said. Opening a button of the military coat blazing with jewels and orders, he drew out a loop of thin gold chain. At the end dangled a small bright thing that flashed under a star of electric light.

"My ring!" breathed Virginia.

Thus died the emperor's intention to ignore the day that had been theirs together.

"Your ring! You gave it to Leo. He kept it. He will always keep it. Have I surprised you?"

Virginia felt it would be best to say "Yes," but instead she answered "No," for pretty white fibs cannot be told under such a look in a man's eyes by a girl who loves him.

"I have not? When did you guess the truth—yesterday or"—

"At Allerheiligen."

Silence fell for a minute, while Leopold digested the answer and its full meaning. He remembered the bread and ham, the cow he could not milk, the rucksacks he had carried. He remembered everything and laughed.

"You knew at Allerheiligen? Not on the mountain when"—

"Yes, I guessed even then, I confess. Oh, I don't mean that I went there expecting to find you. I didn't. I think I shouldn't have gone had I known. Every one believed you were at Melinabad, but when I tumbled down and you saved me I looked up and—of course I'd seen your picture, and one reads in the papers that you're fond of chamois hunting. I couldn't help guessing. Oh, I'm sorry you asked me this!"

"My ring!" breathed Virginia.

"Why?"

"Because one might have to be afraid of an emperor if he were angry."

"Do I look angry?"

Their eyes met again, laughing at first, then each finding unexpected depths in those of the other which drove away laughter. Something in Leopold's breast seemed alive and struggling to be free from restraint, like a fierce wild bird. He shut his lips tightly, breathing hard. Both forgot that a question had been asked, but it was Virginia who spoke first, since it is easier for a woman than a man to hide feeling.

"I wonder why you kept the ring after my—impertinence."

"I had a good reason for keeping it."

"Won't you tell me?"

"You're quick at forming conclusions, Miss Mowbray. Can't you guess?"

"To remind you to beware of strange young women on mountains."

"No."

"Because your own picture is inside?"

"It was a better reason than that."

"Am I not to ask it?"

"On that day you asked what you chose. All the more should you do so now, since there's nothing I could refuse you."

"Not the half of your kingdom, like the royal men in fairy stories?"

As soon as the words were out Virginia would have given much to have them back. She had not thought of a meaning they might convey, but she tried not to blush lest he should think of it now. Nevertheless he did think of it, and the light words, striking a chord they had not aimed to touch, went echoing on and on till they reached that part of himself which the emperor knew least about—his heart.

"Half his kingdom?" Yes, he would give it to this girl if he could. Heavens, what it would be to share it with her!

"Ask anything you will," he said as a man speaks in a dream.

"Then tell me—why you kept the ring."

"Because the only woman I ever cared—to make my friend took it from her finger and gave it to me."

"Now the emperor is pleased to pay compliments."

"You know I am sincere."

"But you'd seen me only for an hour. Instead of deserving your friendship, I'm afraid I"—

"For one hour? That's true. And how long ago is that one hour? A week or so, I suppose, as time counts. But then came yesterday and the thing you did for me. Now I've known you always."

"If you had, perhaps you wouldn't want me for your friend."

"I do want you."

The words would come. It was true already. He did want her, but not as a friend. His world—a world without women, without passion fiery enough to devour principles or traditions—was upside down.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 6.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 @ 5 points on covering by some of yesterday's sellers, who found the week-end figures less bearish than they had expected and who may have been influenced against carrying their short lines over Sunday by the appearance of a low barometer northwest of the belt and the fear of further overflows in the South. In absence of shorts the market ruled quiet during the middle of the morning at about the initial figures. The market closed steady with prices net 3 @ 10 points higher.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 6.—The drygoods market was quiet today with the firmness in cotton goods and yarns well maintained. Jobbers are getting many small orders for quick shipments and are still doing a large business on cotton staples. Fine and fancy cottons for spring will be shown generally by agents about the middle of July. Linens are steadier and some large sales have recently been made to railroads. Burlaps went to the lowest point of the year during the week and have since recovered.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star)

New York, June 6.—The scanty dealings in the stock market today showed that speculative interest was decidedly less active than in the immediate past. The holiday in the London market was partially responsible for this but there is a disposition to maintain a waiting attitude in the speculation. The approach of the period of the national conventions of the great political parties is an influence in this direction. Particular interest attaches to the nature of the platforms to be formulated by the conventions. The market itself was unresponsive to suggestions of possible developments in the political field that might prove unsettling to values of securities. The undertone was firm to strong and substantial progress was made towards the repair of some of the mid-week losses in prices. Union Pacific continued the dominant leader of the market. The evidence of effective support for that stock supressed the inclination of bear element to attack values and there was an almost total subsidence of any pressure to liquidate.

Some published estimates of the coming wheat crop movement a flattering promise of the yield made a sustaining influence on stocks. So also did the tone of the commercial reviews of the mercantile agencies, reporting a more cheerful feeling in various lines of trade. Prices continued to rise without meeting any offerings sufficient to check the advance, and the market closed strong, in spite of the dullness. The bank statement did not disclose the expected gain in cash, and the discrepancy was only partly made up by the $3,500,000 gain of the trust companies and other banks. The week's credit demands also centered on the trust companies, clearing house bank loans contracting substantially.

Bonds were firm. Total sales par value $1,242,000. United States 2s have advanced 1- 4per cent. on call during the week sales today 220,000 shares.

FINANCIAL MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star)

New York, June 6.—Money on call dull, 2 to 2 1-4; time loans easy, sixty days and ninety days 2 to 2 1-2; six months 3 1-2 to 3 3-4. Close, mercantile paper 3 1-2 to 4 per cent. Sterling exchange fairly steady with actual business in bankers bills at 4.8690 for demand and at 4.8550 for sixty day bills. Commercial bills 4.85 to 4.85 1-4. Bar silver 58 to 58 1-4. Mexican dollars 47.

Weekly Bank Statement.

(By Wire to the Morning Star)

New York, June 6.—The statement of the clearing house banks for teh wee shows that the banks hold $47,192,200 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent. reserve rule. This is a decrease of $717,800 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

The statement folows:

Loans $1,211,601,900, decrease $3,516,600.

One of the great growers of seed potatoes in Maine who has made a life study of Irish potatoes, has demonstrated beyond question that it is impossible to apply Paris Green to potato vines in any quantity without weakening the vitality of the tuber. Bug Death will not injure the plant but will stimulate its growth. It will not wash off, it is per ectly harmless to animals and people, and has a wonderful power to prevent blight, rust and those diseases so generally prevalent among melons and vegetables

THE TAFT LIST STILL GROWING

The National Committee Decides More Contests in Favor of His Delegates.

SIXTEEN MORE TAFT MEN

Taken From List of Doubtful Delegates and Placed on His Side—Florida and Georgia Taken Up and Passed On.

Chicago, June 6.—Sixteen more Taft delegates were added to the temporary roll call of the Republican National convention today as the result of the determination of contests from Florida and Georgia. The opposition to Taft failed to score and the slate was wiped clean in favor of the delegates instructed for the Secretary of War. One Florida district, the Third, and three Georgia districts, the First, Second and Third, were passed over until Monday because representatives of anti-Taft delegations were not ready to proceed. Counsel for the delegations instructed for Secretary Taft moved the postponement and announced that they did not desire to take "snap judgement."

Vigorous use of the gavel by Chairman New, and the interference of friends was all that prevented a personal encounter between principals in the Florida State contest. The proceedings were enlivened also by the assertion that Representative Butler Ames, of Massachusetts, who is said to have engineered the anti-Taft fight in Florida, was responsible for the use of alleged forged tickets of admission to the State convention hall. This charge was made in the form of an admission by Former United States District Attorney J. N. Stripling, one of the anti-Taft contestants, who spoke in opposition to the seating of the Taft delegation. It created a distinct sensation.

The claim that forged tickets had been used for the purpose of packing the convention hall had been made by Henry S. Chubb, State Chairman, and one of the delegates at large, instructed to vote for the nomination of Secretary Taft.

When Mr. Stripling, of the opposing delegation, which favored the nomination of Senator Foraker, arose to reply, his attention was directed to the charge by Frank Streeter, of New Hampshire.

"The charge has been made that forged tickets were used by your supporters in gaining admission to the convention," said Mr. Streeter, and he followed the statement with the direct question: "Do you know where those tickets came from and how they came to be used?"

Mr. Stripling did not reply until he was reminded by Mr. Steeter that his reply was awaited.

"I am under the impression that they were obtained at the suggestion of Butler Ames, who was then in St. Augustine," said Mr. Stripling. He was not questioned further.

Representative Ames was in Florida as well as in several other Southern States prior to the conventions held to name delegates to the National convention.

In connection with the charge that forged tickets were used in Florida there was made public today the story of the printing of those tickets over which the controversy has arisen. It appears that the original tickets were printed in Jacksonville at the direction of State Chairman Chubb. After he had secured the tickets, it is said that a representative of the people opposed to the Coombs-Chubb faction visited the same printing shop and said that Mr. Chubb wanted an additional 200 tickets. They were struck off by the unsuspecting printer, and charged to Mr. Chubb's account.

For convenience, the form used by Mr. Chubb was the "Admit bearer" variety, this being for the benefit of some of the negro delegates who could not read. Therefore the alleged spurious tickets were not different from the genuine, and the door-keepers at the convention had no recourse but to admit any person possessing one of the tickets. The members of the anti-Taft faction had the foresight to reach the hall first, and they were in full control when the Coombs-Chubb delegates arrived. The latter were compelled to go elsewhere to hold their convention. They said they were outwitted by "Yankee trickery." What they meant by the term was shown by the disclosure today.

The altercation between Representatives of rival factions in the Florida contest threatened for a time to be the most serious incident of the day. It occurred while Mr. Stripling was addressing the committee. He was denouncing as "machine politics" the methods which he declared had been employed by J. N. Coombs, the National committeeman, and Mr. Chubb, the State chairman. He said that when he was appointed United States District Attorney in Florida a few years ago, he went to Chubb, who was one of the administration's referees on Federal patronage, and told him that he did not want his endorsement. He said that he told Chubb he would repudiate such an indorsement at the Department of Justice in Washington if it was made.

Mr. Chubb was in the room when this statement was made and he promptly denied it. Facing Mr. Stripling, he said: "That is an absolute falsehood."

"I re-affirm on my honor as a man that what I said is true," replied Mr. Stripling.

Both men were standing. They glared at each other and simultaneously began to advance. Chairman New's gavel was digging dents in the table and his voice could be heard above the confusion declaring "both gentlemen are out of order." In the meantime friends of both men had interposed, and the trouble was over.

The Coombs-Chubb delegats at large and the delegates of the same faction from the Second Congressional District were ordered seated. Before the motion to seat these delegates, who were instructed for Secretary Taft, was put to the committee, Mr. Scott, of Alabama, moved to substitute the Stripling delegates. The motion was seconded by Senator Crane, of Massachusetts, but was lost on a viva voce vote. The original motion then carried. After passing over the Third District, which was the only remaining contest from Florida, the Georgia cases were taken up.

Another amusing situation was created by these contests. The State case involving the delegates at large was called and it developed that the faction opposing Secretary Taft had not put in an appearance. The Taft "Big Four" from Georgia was then ordered seated. The opponents of Taft in the First, Second and Third Districts were not ready to proceed and at the suggestion of counsel for the other side, these cases were passed until Monday.

A movement was started early today looking to the division of some of the Southern delegations, giving one half a vote each to the opposing factions. This suggestion came from members of the committee who have not been in their support of the Taft candidacy. It was prefaced by the concession by Senator Crane that the nomination of Secretary Taft on the first ballot is practically assured, and that, therefore, in the settlement of the remaining contests an effort should be made to recognize the negro voter as a question of "party expediency."

The out and out Taft members of the committee combatted this idea on the ground that all the Taft delegations from the South are "mixed", the membership being about evenly divided between the whites and the negroes. They construed the movement as an effort to break down their organization and some members went so far as to say that it was an attempt to get anti-administration men named on the resolutions committee. The plan was not only presented to the committee, but it was broached in informal conferences.

The early argument today with an intervening Sunday before the next session is expected to bring this plan to a head on Monday. It is not improbable that there will be a sharp contest between the Taft and the anti-Taft members of the committee unless some amicable arrangements of the differences of opinion is reached before Monday.

Before any cases were taken up by the committee today another protest was received against Frank and Chas. cock, Arthur C. Statter and Charles G. Phelps, of the Taft campaign managreement, being permitted to sit as members of the committee. It wah filed by Stipling of the Floida faction, opposed to Secetary Taft.

On motion of Mr. Stevenhon, of Colorado, the protest was laid on the table.

Pretty Marriage Ceremony at Inez, N., C., During Past Week.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Inez, N. C., June 6.—There was celebrated at 9:30 o'clock on the morning of June 2nd at Maple Cottage, the beautiful country home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. A. Connell, the marriage of Mr. Robert Stephen Register, of Wilmington, and Miss Nellie Grant Beardsley, of Manson, N. C.

At the appointed hour the parlor doors were thrown open and "Love Me and the World is Mine," was sweetly played by M'ss Henrietta Booth as the guests assembled. The bridal party led by little Miss Hattie Connell, who carried the ring in a silver basket, entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, skilfully rendered by Miss Booth. The bride came in with her sister, Miss Katherine Beardsley, her only attendant. The groom was attended by his best man. Mr. David Gallagher. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. T. Moyle, of Warrenton. As the bride and groom left the parlor to Lohengrin's Wedding March, they were preceded by little Miss Norma Connell, who scattered flowers along the way. The bride was attired in white silk and carried bride's roses. The maid of honor carried pink carnations. The parlor was artistically decorated with festoons of evergreens, potted plants and cut flowers. The room was lighted by many shaded lamps which lent a soft glow to the scene.

Those present from a distance were Dr. and Mrs. Packard, Mrs. Sttand, Miss Henrietta Booth and Mr. Ed Blalock, of Warenton; Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Rose, Misess Sue Watkins and Mamie Rose and Mr. W. T. Rowland, of Manson; Mr. W. G. Mitchell, of Middleburg, and Messrs. David Gallagher and Walter Benson, of Wilmington. Mr. and Mrs. Register left immediately after the ceremony for their home, No. 207 Church street, Wilmington, N. C.

Civil Action Brought Yesterday by Postal Telegraph Company.

Allegations in a small civil action were filed with Justice Bornemann against the Crystal Palace, brought by the Postal Telegraph Company to recover the amount of a claim. The Postal claims that the amount due is $21.22 and brought the suit after the owners of the theatre refused to pay the bill, claiming that they were not responsible for the account. The contention of the parties involved further than above stated is not known, and the trial will be held before Justice Bornemann next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The case was set for a hearing yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, but it was deferred in order that certain parties may be summoned for the trial.

EXCITEMENT SUBSIDING

Over The Shooting of Dreyfus at The Zola Memorial Service.

EFFORT TO MAKE CAPITAL

Out of the Affair by Those Who Would Do So Frustrated by the Calm Action of the Government —The Disappointment.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

Paris, June 6.—The excitement produced by the attempt to kill Major Alfred Dreyfus last Thursday by Louis Gregori during the ceremonies attending the placing of the remains of Emile Zola in the National Pantheon is rapidly subsiding.

It is now apparent that the Clemenceau Government does not intend to play into the hands of the Nationalists by reviving the old issue, of which the country is weary and the Republican Press generally is co-operating with the Government by minimizing the importance of the outrage, by refraining from speculation as to whether or not there was a plot behind it and by ignoring the vaporings of the Nationalist Press.

Mm. Maurroas, Daudet of l'Action Francaise evidently are disappointed that they were not hauled up to explain their statements in that journal that "a resolute patriot" had visited them and offered to kill Dreyfus, but that his proposal was rejected. M. Maurras today publishes another violently worded editorial article in l'Action Francaise, declaring that the "cause of the King" soon will overthrow the "Dreyfus Republic." He defies the government to prosecute him.

The doctors have not been able to locate the ball in Major Dreyfus' arm and say that possibly it has been ejected by the action of the muscles. Friends of Gregori, however, advance the theory that he used wax pellets instead of bullets. Those pellets were invented ten years ago for use in practice with duelling pistols. When they are fired at a distance of 20 paces they produce an abrasion of the skin, but are otherwise harmless.

In addition to the correspondence of certain Generals on technical subjects found yesterday when the authorities searched Gregori's lodgings there was seized also a memorandum which, it is intimated, contains important information.

Lyons, June 6.—M. DePressens, Socialist member of the Chamber of Deputies, in a speech made here today opening the Congress of the League of the Rights of Man, referred to the shooting of Major Dreyfus in the Pantheon in the following words:

"Is the past again confronting us? Are not those who believed Nationalism dead deceived? The brutal outrage in the Pantheon proved again, as has been proved before, that the Nationalists are not only preaching their nefarious sophistries, but inciting their dupes to violence and crime."

WARM WIRELETS.

Carrying out his deliberations to the conference of Governors that should Congress fail to provide for the continuance of the inland waterways commission he would continue them by executive act, and Congress having failed to take action continuing the body, President Roosevelt today re-appointed the members of that commission.

At Neosho, Mo., Miss Johnnie Davidson yesterday shot and killed Roy Ramsour, while the latter was attempting, as she believed, to kill her sister. Ramsour and Miss Grace Davidson the sister, had been keeping company until recently when the girl forbade him to come to the Davidson home.

The Prest-Oh-Lite factory at Minneopolis blew up yesterday. Eight persons are known to be injured. This is the third time within a year that there has been an explosion at the plant. The new factory is wrecked and St. Vincent's hospital adjoining is damaged. Windows were shattered in and buildings several blocks away.

The attorneys for Madam Anna Gould stated yesterday that various matters had delayed the marriage of their client to Prince Helie de Sagan, but that the ceremony would occur within a month. The presecnt of Geo. Gould, Madame Gould's brother, at the marriage is problematical, as business interests demand his presence in the United States.

William J. Bryan was indorsed by county conventions held throughout Kentucky yesterday to name delegates to District and State conventions which in turn will name delegates to the national convention. The result of the contest between Beckman and his opponents for control of the party in the State will not become known until the meeting of the State convention on June 11.

Spurning the gold of millionaires, Dr. Albert Jensen, of Berlin, one of the greatest eye and ear surgeons in the world, operated yesterday out of pure mercy and without price on two unfortunate waifs of the tenements. The skill of the famous surgeon, for which the wealthy men and women of Chicago in vain have begged and pleaded with offers of fortunes, and what at last was given for nothing ,resulted in two cures. The children who had been deaf were made to hear.

KILLING OF MR. HESTER.

Additional Particulars of Tragedy Near Clarkton Yesterday.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clarkton, June 6.—Additional information relative to the tragic death of Mr. Iredell Hester, as published in this morning's Star were received today. Mr. Hester went up after supper to H. S. Swindell's store to see him relative to a land deal. Mr. Swindell was away at a church meeting and Mr. Hester sat down on the railroad in front of the store to await his return and unfortunately fell asleep. He was of a sleepy nature when not in action and it had been noticed that he frequently fell asleep in the postoffice here while reading a newspaper.

Mr. Hester was loved by all the patrons of the rural route he served; he was a favorite with al the carriers and the postoffice force here. He was full of sunshine and geniality, always obliging and accommodating, he was happiest when he could be of service to some one else. He was a member of the Baptist church here and a leading member of the Woodmen of the World; also a member of the Odd Fellows'. He is survived by a wife and six children.
